MEMORANDUM

To: Economic Policy Council
From: Clayton Yeutter
Subject: EPC Meeting December 5

As you know, at the EPC meeting on Thursday we will review recent trade legislative developments and prospects. For your background information, attached is a chart comparing the major provisions of the Administration's trade proposals (as already approved by the EPC) with the provisions of bills introduced by Representative Michel (H.R.3522) and a bipartisan group of senators including Jack Danforth (S.1860).

COMPARISON OF MAJOR PROVISIONS IN ADMINISTRATION'S TRADE PROPOSALS AND HOUSE REPUBLICAN
(H.R. 3522) AND SENATOR DANFORTH'S (S. 1860) TRADE BILLS

New Round
Authority

For five years, authorizes tariff negotiations outright and nontariff negotiations subject to fast track review procedures. Would also provide compensation authority for tariff increases because of Congressional action or Customs reclassification.

Administration

H.R. 3522

Sec. 103. Expresses "the sense of Congress" that the President should initiate a new GATT Round which should (among other objectives):

- o improve dispute settlement,
- o bring developing countries into full participation in the international trading community, and
- o ensure that all developed countries share equally the responsibility for advancing developing country economies.

Sec. 103 does not mention full reciprocity (as does the summary of it), and does not authorize use of fast track procedures.

S. 1860

Title IV. Sec. 402 authorizes for five years (beginning in 1988) use of legislative fast track procedures to implement any tariff and nontariff agreements, provided the Finance and Ways and Means Committees approve use of fast track based on extent to which specific negotiating objectives (listed in sec. 404) are achieved, including:

- o development of rules for services, investment and intellectual property rights,
- o expanded coverage of Government Procurement Code,
- o GATT graduation of advanced developing countries,
- o revision of GATT balance of payments article to reflect floating exchange rate system,
- o accelerated implementation of trade concessions by countries with persistent current account surpluses,
- o enhanced transparency, as through substitution of tariffs for QR's,
- o increased GATT coordination with IMF, IBRD in their dealings with LDC debtors,
- o minimum workplace standards to prevent human rights abuses,
- o provision of similar subsidy rules for industrial and agricultural products,
- o improved dispute settlement, and
- o definition and discipline of negative trade effects of certain practices not covered by GATT, including natural resource subsidies, targeting, upstream subsidies and downstream dumping.

Administration

H.R. 3522

S. 1860

New Round
Authority (Cont'd)

Requires consultations with Congressional and private sector advisers, public hearings, and ITC advice. Also requires annual Congressional briefings on prospects for achieving specific negotiating objectives and other countries' demands.

Sec. 405 authorizes President for five years (beginning in 1988) to impose or increase duties in lieu of a QR, or to auction import licenses in administering QR's.

Bilateral,
Plurilateral
Negotiating
Authority

In providing new round authority, authorizes plurilateral and bilateral agreements as well as multilateral agreements.

Sec. 104. Requires President to begin Canadian trade negotiations if Canada requests them; reduces 60-day period in sec. 102(b) of the Trade Act to 30-day period for Canada; and requires USTR to identify other possible free trade area partners, in part on the basis of their extension of reciprocal treatment to U.S. goods and services.

Authorizes tariff and nontariff barrier trade agreements with any number of other countries, subject to fast track Congressional review, provided Finance and Ways and Means Committees approve based on extent to which specific negotiating objectives are met. (See New Round Authority, supra.)

Other Negotiating
Authority -
Alaskan Oil

Sec. 105. For one year, authorizes President (through USTR) to negotiate an agreement with Japan (subject to fast track Congressional review) to permit exports of Alaskan petroleum and natural gas in return for substantial GOU concessions on imports of important U.S. exports.

Commission on Trade

Sec. 101. Establishes a Commission on Trade (at least ten members, including two House and two Senate members) to review trade policies and practices and to report findings and recommendations to the Congress within six months (to provide an informed basis for negotiations and summit).

International Trade Summit

Sec. 101(d). Expresses sense of Congress that President should determine appropriateness of convening a summit conference on international trade.

Negotiating
Priorities

Sec. 109. Requires USTR, in the annual market barriers report, to assess overall reciprocity for U.S. goods, services and investment by each major trading partner; and requires Senate Finance and Ways and Means Committees (within 90 days of receiving market barriers report) to hold hearings and issue a joint report recommending negotiating priorities and candidates for self-initiated investigations under sec. 301.

Title IV. Establishes specific negotiating objectives for new round.

Intellectual Property Rights.

Provides:

- o process patent protection,
- o longer patent term for agricultural chemicals to compensate for marketing time lost while waiting for EPA approval,
- o deletion of the injury and industry requirements in sec. 337 patent, trademark, and copyright cases (with no effect on grey market issue),
- o more liberal licensing of technology under the antitrust laws,
- o prevention of patent misuse, by amending the patent laws to render a valid patent unenforceable only if meaningful economic analysis under the antitrust laws demonstrates that a licensing practice would have an anticompetitive effect, and
- o codification of Lear v. Adkins, that while a licensee cannot be estopped from challenging a patent's validity, he may be required to continue to pay royalties.

Sec. 112. Amends sec. 337 to require ITC decisions within 8/10 months, and to authorize discretionary interim relief in copyright and patent infringement cases.

Sec. 201. Provides process patent protection.

Sec. 221. Provides protection against FOIA abuse through notice and opportunity to oppose release to affected persons.

Title VIII. Sec. 801 amends Sec. 337 to:

- o eliminate injury requirement,

Mixed Credit
Fund

On September 26, Treasury transmitted to the Congress a proposal to promote U.S. exports through authorization and appropriation of approximately $300 million in grant funds, to enable the Administration to offer $1 billion in mixed credit loans to targeted buyers.

Sec. 303(a). Directs Treasury to develop a program of mixed credit financing for exports, to offset subsidized financing by our trading partners. Does not authorize or appropriate funds.

Title IX. Sec. 903 establishes a $300 million competitive export subsidy fund (S.1763).

Foreign Corrupt
Practices Act

Reduces FCPA export disincentives by clarifying foreign agent liabilities and accounting provisions.

Title IV.

Title IX. Secs. 911-919 incorporate Chafee/Heinz bill (S.430) reducing FCPA export disincentives by clarifying foreign agent liabilities and accounting provisions.

Telecommunications

Requires identification of significant obstacles to telecommunications products and services of U.S. firms-sub-sidiaries. Authorizes negotiations to achieve fair and equitable foreign market opportunities, subject to fast track Congressional review. Authorizes sec. 301 retaliation, also subject to fast track review. If U.S. retaliation found inconsistent with obligations by an international dispute settlement body, authorizes compensation without fast track requirement.

Sec. 307. (Not a reciprocity provision). Modifies the 1982 Western Electric divestiture order by allowing Bell operating companies (BOC's) to manufacture telecommunications equipment and customer premises equipment in U.S. if Commerce concludes that:

- o each BOC offers equal access to inter-exchange carriers and information service providers as contemplated by divestiture order; and
- o there is no substantial possibility that any BOC could impede competition.

Nonmarket Economy
Trade Remedy

Proposes a predictable pricing test to replace the AD and CVD laws for imports from NME's. (The TPRG has not yet agreed on the specifics, however.)

Section 301
Amendments

Limits time for dispute settlement to 24 months. Allows extension at petitioner's request.

Sec. 108. Authorizes USTR to recommend tariff increases, suspension of duty-free treatment, QR's, or other actions withdrawing benefits of trade concessions. Authorizes President, in the national interest, to reject USTR's recommendation and not to take any action or to take different or additional action. Requires President to report to the Congress, which may (within 90 days) pass joint resolution to effect USTR recommendation if President rejected it.

In formulating recommendation, USTR must determine whether country in question "provides reciprocity in overall trade to United States exports, and assess the degree to which lack of overall reciprocity, if any, contributes to any burden on or restriction to United States commerce." (Subsec. (d)) If USTR determines that lack of reciprocity is an important contributing factor in that country's trade practices, then he must include in his recommendation action vs. that country's two largest exports to U.S. (on basis of value).

Title VII. Sec. 701 amends antidumping law for nonmarket economy imports to compare U.S. price of such products with the trade-weighted average U.S. import price for similar merchandise produced by eligible market economy producers.

Title II. Sec. 202 amends Sec. 181 to require USTR annually to self-initiate investigations under Sec. 301 based on National Trade Estimates Report, focusing on most onerous foreign barriers and representing a substantial amount of U.S. trade.

Sec. 203 transfers Sec. 301 authority from President to USTR.

Sec. 204(a) further defines injury to include the threat of a burden or restriction on U.S. commerce, and gives examples of burdens.

Sec. 204(b) adds GSP withdrawal and offsetting settlements (acceptable to petitioner and affected industry) to retaliatory options. Adds "targeting" (including anticompetitive practices, infant industry protection, export subsidies to third country markets, and diversion of trade into the U.S.) to Sec. 301 causes of action.

Sec. 204(c) expands the definition of "unreasonable" expressly to cover infant protection and lack of protection against anticompetitive practices.

Sec. 205 requires USTR to determine and publish whether foreign practice violates a trade agreement or is unjustifiable, unreasonable or discriminatory within 90 days of initiation.

Sec. 206 authorizes compensation for retaliation if the President determines it is necessary to meet U.S. international obligations.

Administration

H.R. 3522

S. 1680

Section 201
Amendments

Requires ITC to assess petitioning industry's prospects for adjustment to changing conditions of competition; provides some type of fast track procedure for perishable agricultural commodities (although the TPRG has not yet agreed on the fast track specifics, however).

Sec. 106. Transfers sec. 201 authorities from President to USTR; allows President, in international economic interest, to reject USTR recommendation within 15 days (subject to Congressional joint resolution within 90 days), and in such cases requires him to report his reasons to Congress. Authorizes interim relief (at any time) in the event USTR determines that imports are in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of an imminent threat of serious injury (excluding normal seasonal fluctuations).

Sec. 107. Provides fast track relief for perishable agricultural products (14 days for USTR, in consultation with USDA, to decide whether there is a reasonable indication that imports are a substantial cause of serious injury and whether emergency action is warranted; and seven days thereafter to provide relief if former decisions were affirmative).

Title III. Sec. 305 limits Presidential discretion if petitioners (labor and management) develop an adjustment plan and the ITC finds it would likely result in sufficient adjustment to make industry competitive. In such cases, requires President to provide substantially equivalent relief to that recommended by ITC unless he obtains fast track Congressional approval of legislation implementing the import relief, if any, the President has determined to take. Does not change current law if petitioners do not develop a plan, the ITC finds it inadequate, or the ITC finds no injury. Allows President to terminate or modify import relief if industry fails to comply with plan, and such failure is not justified by changed circumstances and adversely affects overall implementation of the plan's objectives.

Sec. 301 expands threat of injury to include evidence of targeting.

Sec. 302 requires President to impose provisional measures in Sec. 201 cases if he finds critical circumstances (i.e., surging imports would cause damage difficult to repair).

Sec. 303 provides accelerated Sec. 201 procedures for agricultural perishable products (possibility of emergency relief within 21 days).

Sec. 304 requires the ITC to evaluate the effectiveness of import relief after it is terminated.

Sec. 306 expands Presidential (not ITC) remedies to include accelerated AD/CVD cases, limited antitrust exemptions and multilateral negotiations.

Administration

S.1860

Sec. 307 provides possibility of ITC 60-day review of its 1985 unanimous affirmative footwear determination. If review is requested and ITC affirms its injury determination, President must make his determination within 30 days.

AD/CVD
Amendments

- o Streamlines judicial review of AD/CVD cases by bypassing the Court of International Trade.
- o Makes it easier for ITC to find "critical circumstances" by establishing criteria.
- o Interprets "international obligations of the U.S." as substantive, reciprocal obligations.
- o Preserves CVD orders when dutiable merchandise found subsidized under sec. 303 becomes duty-free and eligible for an injury test until ITC makes an injury determination.
- o Codifies the commitments policy (that is, specifies the conditions under which LDC's may obtain the injury test in subsidy cases).
- o Clarifies that petition filing requirements are less exacting for small businesses.
- o Effects technical corrections to the AD/CVD provisions of the Trade and Tariff Act of 1984, and other technical amendments.
- o Proposes a predictable pricing test to replace the AD and CVD laws for imports from NME's. (The TPNC has not yet agreed on the specifics,

Title VII. Sec. 701 amends antidumping law for nonmarket economy imports to compare U.S. price of such products with the trade-weighted average U.S. import price for similar merchandise produced by eligible market economy producers.

to Exchange Rate
and Debt

Title V. Sec. 502 states policy to coordinate monetary/fiscal policies and central bank participation in international currency matters.

Sec. 503(a) requires President, within 6 months, to enter into G-5 negotiations to improve functioning of international monetary system, to enhance G-5 role in fiscal/monetary coordination, and to achieve reciprocal investment opportunities.

Sec. 503(b) provides for establishment of a Strategic Exchange Reserve to moderate exchange rate fluctuations.

Sec. 504 requires semiannual Presidential reports to the Congress on negotiations under Sec. 503(a).

Authorizes President to negotiate with OECD and MDB members to eliminate official financing for, or MDB assistance to, new mining or production facilities for commodities in oversupply. Calls for negotiated termination of IMF Compensatory Financing Facility and transfer of its assets to IMF's general resources.

Sec. 514 requires annual reports by the President to Congress on his efforts relating to developing country debtors.
